Wainman, daughter or Tranklin, on West Avenue.

The decorations, which were in palms, evergreons and Japanese lanterns, formed a fitting background for the youthful figure of the baroness, who made a pretty picture in a gown of white chiffon, trimmed with baby Hish point lace. Miss Wainman was gowned in yellow mousseline over taffeta. Refreshiments were served during the evening in the Japanese tea garden.

Hawkins—Watkins.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Willie C. Hawkins. of Marysville, Campbell county, Va., was the scene of a beautiful marriage Wednesday, June 24th, at noon, when their daughter. Luin Mary, became the bride of Dr. Ottis Lee Watkins, of Marysville. The marriage ceremony was impressively performed in the beautifully decorated parlor of the bride's home by the Rev. John Clayton Newman, of the Baptist Church, in the presence of the immediate families of the contracting parties, together with only a few of the most initimate relatives and friends.

The bride was charmingly gowned in white chiffon and lace, and carried a bouquet of illies of the valley. The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wille Chapman Hawkins. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Watkins, of Petersburg, and a young physician of unusual promise. The popularity of the happy pair was shown by the numerous and lovely presents which they received.

Heard and Seen in Public Places

Judge Martin Williams, of Giles county, who has represented his people as one of the few Democratic members of the House from the Ninth Congressional District for the past four years, and who fathered the present high school measure permitting countles to borrow money for school purposes upon certain conditions, is here, and was before the State Board of Education last night, asking for a new high school at Pearisburg, his county seat and home town.

"You ought to be able to get whatever you ask in reason along school lines," said a friend of Judge Williams, who knows of his fine work for the public school system.

"I thank you," said the judge in reply, "and I shall feel further obliged if you will say that to such members of the board as you shall chance to meet, for I am deeply interested in getting a school for my people."

A member of the board was present and heard the conversation, remarking that he had learned with great pleasure of the fine work of Judge Williams.

The hotel lobbies were well filled ure of the fine work of Judge Williams.

The hotel lobbles were well filled last night with prominent men from all over the State, clamoring for high schools in their respective localities, and many of them had previously called during the day upon the local members of the State Board, importuning them to stand by their respective localities.

The interest shown in educational matters in Virginia is remarkable, and it appears to be stimulated every time there is an opportunity for securing better facilities. A large number of members of the Legislature and county boards of supervisors, school trustees and citizens are here pleading that they be given a share of the State's recent appropriation for high and agricultural schools. This is looked upon as a wholesome condition, for if the people did not want the schools their representatives would hardly be here asking for them. asking for them.

Prominent Democrats who were in the city yesterday on private business were Hon. David Bernard Powers. Jr., of Caroline, and Hon. John J. Owen, of Prince Edward, members of the House of Delegates from their respective counties. Mr. Powers left for his home, at Port Royal, last night, and Mr. Owen is still at Murphy's, and will leave for Green Bay this afternoon. Hon. Thomas H. Edwards, of King William, was also in the city yesterday. Prominent Democrats who were and was a caller at the Capitol.

"Who will carry the Tenth Congressional District this fall?" asked a Times-Dispatch representative of Hon. John W. Churchman, of Augusta, at Murphy's last night.

"Bryan and Flood, by an overwhelming majority," was his reply.

"Who will carry it for Governor in the primary next year?"

"Mr. Tucker, of course."

"Who will be the next Speaker of the, House?"

"John W. Churchman, of Augusta."

The Valley legislator is here, with other public men, to look after the location of a new high school in his district, and he joined the swarm of leaders at the Capitol during the evening.

Speaker Byrd was there, evidently on a similar mission. Hon. Robert W. Withers, who a few days ago announced that he would stand for the speakership again next year, was not present, though his section was well represented.

A friend of Speaker Byrd, in com-menting upon the early announcements of opposition to him, said: "Dick is still on the job. He won over these gentlemen last year, and will probably

MONTHS BY CUTICURA

"When my son Walter was three weeks eld, eczema appeared on his face. We did not know what it was so went to a doctor who treated him for three months. Then he was so bad that his face and head were nothing but one sore and his ears looked as if they were going to fail off, so we tried another doctor. He said he could cure him and we doctored there four months, the baby never getting any better. His hand and legs then had big sores on them and as for his sleeping, we could not think of it, the poor little fellow suffered so terribly. First I tied his hands to the orlb to keep him from scratching, but when it got so bad I tied him in a shawl or he would scratch himself all bloody. When he was seven months did we tried a set of the Cuticura Remedies. The first application of Cuticura let him sleep and rest well, in one week the sores were gone but it stayed red and sometimes it would itch so we used Cuticuras for two months, then he had a clear and white face. Now he is two years and seven months old and has never had eccema again. I hope this letter will help some who are suffering from skin disease. Every mother who has a baby suffering with skin disease should just try Cuticura; there is nothing better. Mrs. Louis Beck, R. F. D. 3, San Antonio, Tex., Apr. 15, '07.''
